BUCK PUBLISHES AAF 01/06 REPORT

LONDON: 23 September 2008 – Buck Consultants, an ACS company and one of the world’s leading human resource and benefit consulting firms, today announced that it has produced its first AAF 01/06 Assurance report as part of its ongoing commitment to providing a first class pensions administration service.

Vinny Ehzuvan, UK Head of Global HR Technology and Administration (GHRTA), commented on the publication of the report:

“Pension scheme trustees are increasingly being asked to prove that they have adequate internal controls in place to safeguard their members’ records and assets, especially now that pension scheme auditors are required to report on any material weaknesses in accounting and internal control systems identified during annual scheme audits. Trustees who have outsourced their pension administration to a third-party administrator should also seek assurance that the administrator is running an effective internal control environment.

“Buck Consultants has assessed and documented its internal pension administration controls against the control objectives set out in the AAF 01/06 technical release. The independent reporting accountant, KPMG LLP, has evaluated our internal controls report and obtained appropriate information to provide an unqualified opinion on it. By producing this report, we can demonstrate to our clients that Buck Consultants has a high level of security and service standards across its pension administration business”.
